Rev. Melitior, of the Methodist church, has in his possession a very unique copy of the gospel of St. John which he intends to donate to the new free library. The book is printed from photographic plates made from the first edition of the New Testament ever translated into the English language, by William Tyndale, there now being only one book of that edition known to be in existence.

He also has a copy of the smallest book ever printed, being an entire edition of the New Testament. The book is so small that it carries it in a postage stamp case, it being a little larger than half the size of an ordinary postage stamp and about one-quarter of an inch thick. With the aid of a glass every word in the book is plainly visible and shows it to be a full and complete copy of that part of the Bible.

APPETITE'S GONE.

Food eaten without appetite always causes gastric disturbances, because nature's plan for the stomach is stimulated by a desire for food, not by digestive juices are formed. Consequently the food is wasted and clogs up the bowels. For loss of appetite and constipation there is nothing to equal the Bitters. Try a dose before noon. It also cures indigestion, flatulence, insomnia and malarial fever and ague.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

C. E. Egan and wife are in from the Great Rock mine.

E. F. Leigh, of the Mohawk mine, was a passenger this morning for Chicago.

A good time guaranteed. Where? At Odd Fellows hall tonight. You are invited.

Geo. L. Maer, who has been head bar tender for the past two years at the El Saloon, left this morning for San Francisco where he will make his future home.

Gov. Brodie yesterday authorized the payment of the reward of $1000 offered by the territory for the capture and conviction of the murderers of Charles Goodard and Frank Coleman, and warrants were drawn and forwarded to L. W. Blankenship, formerly of Phoenix, but now of Canabon.

Geo. R. Miller, who for several years, until 1890, was a prominent stock man of this section, but for the past fourteen years a resident of Orange county, California, arrived in Prescott yesterday and is visiting with old friends and going over the old trails where he used to travel. He is delighted with the improved appearance of Prescott, and could hardly believe his eyes when he saw the place.

Samuel Dwyer, one of the most highly respected citizens of the Salt River valley, died in Phoenix yesterday afternoon. He leaves, besides a whole community of friends, a wife and eight children, Bernice Dwyer, of St. Louis, Mo.; Dwyer of Blaine, Fred Dwyer of Solomville and Mr. Ralph Murphy, Zella Dwyer, Arthur Dwyer, Nat Dwyer and Beulah Dwyer, the last all residents of Phoenix.

Miss Maude Thomas, who went to Mesa this week to compete for the gold medal offered by the W. C. T. U. convention for the best declamation on the subject of temperance, returned home this morning. By just one little mistake she failed to capture the gold medal but carried off the second prize, a beautiful silver medal. Miss Thomas certainly did herself proud in a contest of that kind, and will try again for the gold medal at the next convention.

The bowling match at the Monarch bowling alleys Saturday evening between the bankers and lawyers resulted in a victory for the bankers, the score being 2004 to 1918. The players were: Bankers—W. C. Brandon, J. C. Fredericks, C. A. Peter, H. Bailey, C. A. Peter, Jr. The lawyers were: C. W. Herndon, J. M. Ross, R. E. Sloan, E. S. Clark, L. Anderson.

Rev. Kingsbury preached two very fine sermons in the Congregational church yesterday to large audiences. The subject of the evening talk was "The Story of Cuba." Rev. Kingsbury is a very interesting talker and his wide experience abroad and especially in Cuba gave him an opportunity to deliver a fine discourse, which he did. He left this morning for Albuquerque, N. M.

The Athletic Club will give a musical and athletic entertainment for the benefit of the club at an early date, the subject of the entertainment being "The Story of Cuba." The Prescott Orchestra will provide the music, which ensures an enjoyable evening, even if nothing else of interest occurs.

But the officers of the club are planning a number of events of special interest to the general public. The entertainment will probably close with dancing.

The games yesterday between the M. & N. and King Pin bowling teams resulted in a victory for the M. & N. by 144 points, the score being 2326 and 2285 respectively. The highest individual score was 265, by Squifflet, being also the highest score yet made on Monarch alleys.

Following are averages of the players, three games: M. & N. teams—Mansfield 134, Galbreath 170, Hamilton 166, Squifflet 190, Loney 142, King Pin team—Gilmore 162, King 162, Perkins 130, Lowery 137, Wallace 101.

The Athletic Club gave a little entertainment and smoker Saturday evening which was enjoyed by quite a number of the club and their friends. The club has been having rather a hard struggle to keep up its organization on account of several of the good members leaving the city, and it is now being made to revive the interest and the prospects are good for the future. Those who feel an interest in maintaining an institution of this character in the city should lend a helping hand.

The Prescott Title company has been preparing a number of abstracts of title for lots in the Otis addition. Z. O. Brown, the manager for the company, has a process which he invented which acts in exactly the opposite manner from the ordinary blue print, in that in place of printing blue black ground and white lines it prints the lines blue and fades out the black ground white, giving it the exact appearance of the original copy. He has employed this method in making up these abstracts and instead of having to typewrite each copy and then print off as many of these copies as he desires. This enables him to furnish an abstract for every lot purchased in this addition at a nominal fee. He also uses this method in many ways, which makes it a very valuable process to him.

The new free library now has about 1000 good books. About 500 new books have just been received and there is not a day that there are not several donations. The work of getting the books classified and catalogued is being made as simple as possible and in a few more days the library will be in a position to order and any book which is desired may be had in a moments time. The rooms are fitted up beautifully and are very attractive, making it a lovely place to spend an hour or two reading. Besides the books there are all the popular magazines and daily papers already at hand, so no one can complain in Prescott that there is not a place where they can spend their idle time with profit and pleasure.

A telegram was received in this city last evening that E. A. Eastbrook, formerly a well known printer of this city, had died yesterday afternoon at Winslow, Arizona, of pneumonia. No further particulars of his death have been received. He left Prescott about a year ago and has been in Winslow most of the time since leaving here, and at the time of his death was running the Winslow Mail for the heirs of the paper. He was a native of Portland, Oregon, and about 35 years of age. For several years he was an active member of the Prescott Fire department, and that organization tended to lend a helping hand in the arrangements for the funeral. He was also a former member of the Prescott typographical union.

From Monday's Daily.

This office acknowledges a very pleasant call today from Dr. Coleman of Jerome, who is in Prescott as a witness before the grand jury. The doctor says the copper camp is going along very nicely now. In the three years that he has been there he has built up a good practice and has been very successful.

Rev. Melitior, of the Methodist church, left this morning for Flagstaff in response to a request from Rev. Henry of that place to assist in a series of special meetings which is being held. He will be absent for about ten days or two weeks. Rev. Adams will preach in the church in this city next Sunday both morning and evening.

The concert in the plaza yesterday afternoon at three o'clock by the Eagles band, was greatly enjoyed by a large crowd of people. The change of hour to three o'clock in the afternoon is very satisfactory as the afternoon is warm and bright and people are glad to go to listen to a good concert, which is the kind the boys were giving.

D. L. Sharpnack, of the Ideal Mining company, left this morning in response to a telegram stating that his mother, who lives at Modale, Iowa, was very ill. The dispatch did not say what the ailment was but owing to the age, which is 88 years, it was feared she might not live, and he left to be at her bedside. He will probably go on to his old home in Chicago before returning to Prescott.

Misses Katie and Vergie Hite, nieces of T. E. Fitzsimmons, left this morning for the Verde valley, where they will make their future home with their grandmother.

One of the striking features of the present term of court is the overwhelming number of Mexicans who are before the bar of justice. It costs this territory something to take care of Mexico's criminals.

The partnership between Chas. Goodard and Ira Pulliam in the transfer business, has been dissolved, and Ira Pulliam will continue the business while Mr. Goodard will again turn his attention to mining.

R. D. French is making preparations to leave his family to Phoenix for the winter in hope that the change of climate will be of benefit to Mrs. French, who has been in very poor health for several months.

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Darnell, old time and well known residents of the Hillside section, came up from the south yesterday morning on a trading trip, returning to their home in the evening. The Journal-Miner was favored by a short call from these excellent old people.

Mrs. Woodruff and Mrs. Gouley, mother and sister of Mrs. J. E. McCoy, left for their home in Oxnard, California, this morning, after a few weeks' visit in this city. They made many friends during their visit here, who will be glad to have them visit Prescott many visits in the future.

Don't forget the excursion to the end of the track on the Prescott & Eastern railroad next Sunday, November 15. It will only cost you $1.50 for the round trip and you will see a sight that is seldom seen in railroad engineering. The sight from the top of the Bradshaws is worth the trip alone.

The Old Fellows give their second annual ball Friday night the 13th. They are planning a "big ball" this year and the costumes and arrangements will be as nearly as possible as they were in the "days of 40."

A large crowd and an unusually good time are predicted.

Mrs. T. C. Rice and son were passengers this morning for Kansas where Mrs. Rice will visit for some time with her mother. Mrs. Rice is the lady who so successfully coached the lady ministers in this city a few days ago. She has made a large number of friends during her short residence in Prescott.

The art section of the Monday Club held a very interesting meeting this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Julian Millard on South Mt. Vernon street. The subject for consideration was "Religion and Literature of the Egyptians." and the subject proved to be a very interesting and instructive one to those present.

Mr. George U. Young and son left this morning for their home in Williams after a visit of several days in Prescott with Mr. Young. They expect to return here in the near future and will likely spend as much of the winter in this city, as Mr. Young's business demands that he stay here a great deal.

Deputy Sheriff Geo. Holzer was seized by an epileptic fit while at the top of the stairs in the court house and fell in an unconscious condition rolling to the bottom of the stairs. He screamed, which brought assistance immediately and a doctor was called and he was soon restored to consciousness while his wife, who has been subject to these spells but has the first one he has experienced for several months. He was not injured by the fall down stairs but might have been killed.

One look at the long string of loaded freight cars and the tons of freight piled up on the platform at the depot will make any one think that freight was very dull in this section. Freight Agent West informed the Journal-Miner today that October was the largest month the railroad has had during the past year, and is very nearly a record breaker for the road, there being only one or two months in the history of the road where the amount of business handled was greater than for the month of October just past. The side tracks were all filled with loaded cars today and it was not to be set in freight as long as it lives. There is an abundant supply of men ready and willing to work for the mine operators' scale and there has been no trouble for some time with the agitators.

Heretofore the county taxes became delinquent on the last Monday in December, but the last Monday in December, the date so that they now become delinquent on the second Monday in December, or just one week sooner than before. Taxpayers should take notice of this change and make their payments on time to avoid penalties by letting their taxes become delinquent. The taxes are high enough, the Lord knows, without any additional penalties and costs.

Company L of the 11th cavalry arrived at Whipple last evening about five o'clock after a good hard march of several days. There were sixty men in the troop and they were all tired out, as the march had been over very rough road, a good portion of the way between here and Phoenix. They report the old Black Canyon road to be in terrible shape. The boys declare that the trip just finished is too much like rail campaigning to have much fun about it.

The official count of the beans in the glass jar at the B. R. Co.'s store yesterday evening, revealed the fact that there were just 322 beans in the jar. Two girls in this city came with in six of guessing the exact number, one guessing 322 and the other 3015. A committee of three ladies will now be chosen and from the twenty who guessed the number, the correct number, the one giving the best reasons why their mothers should have a Black range, will be presented with the handsome little Buck Jr. range.

Familiarity with mines impresses one with the manifold dangers attending work underground. The miner who exercises does not insure immunity from accident—or death. Accidents comprise many forms. There is the falling of death dealing rocks, the premature explosion of powder, the leap to death from shaft or winze of rope, and many other dangers always present. The miner's life is one of constant risks, although the miner of years' experience has a contempt for it that is born of familiarity. The men who work under such conditions are brave. They must be, and more, they are braver. The death of a miner is the miner usually call for but passing notice, but volumes could be filled with incidents which entitle the miner to a high place in the list of the world's heroes.—Ex.

George R. Maxwell has been telling the people of New Orleans that if they would build the dike around the city which he is visited from the Mississippi they should co-operate with the rest of the country in seeing that the forests are protected and the flood waters of the streams stored in reservoirs for irrigation. And the people of the south never had better advice.

Through the intervention of the war department, the president has just pardoned a military prisoner who committed murder forty years ago. He was imprisoned for life but escaped and has since led such a respectable life that the war department did not care to take advantage of the discovery of his identity.

Through an oversight the Virginia legislature at Blacksburg, Va., elected a negro as overseer of the county. His name was printed on the ballot by mistake. Senator Gorman will probably die as this another instance of negro domination.

HEROES OF THE MINES.

The heroic deeds on the field of battle are told in song and story and the soldier's life is considered one calling for exceptional bravery and daring. None will detract one iota from the measure of praise due the brave boys who do the fighting and hearts will always thrill at deeds of military valor. We must not, however, forget that others accomplish daring acts. Other callings require courage and bravery, and not infrequently do we read of individual acts of heroic valor in the every day life of the workmen.

Mining calls for courage and bravery. The miner takes his life in his hands every day. His courageous and heroic deeds are accomplished in places even where the sun never shines.
